Responding to a disclosure or a concern - a quick guide.

(Please also read the section taken from the policy)

If you are concerned, Doing NOTHING is not an option but neither is it your job to investigate a disclosure of abuse.

The young person has trusted you to tell you about their situation so you have to understand how hard this has been for them to do so and treat it very seriously and know what to do.

TRY TO:

- Remain calm
- Listen carefully and don't interrupt
- Try to find a point early in the conversation to explain that you will not be able to keep it to yourself and will need to share it with someone who will be able to help (reassure them that you will be with them if they wish and will help them to explain) but you will keep them informed at all times. If the young person is adamant that you can't tell anyone, you still must tell the Designated officer or the Welfare officer of the club. Discuss with the designated person of the AT if you are unsure.
- Allow them to continue at their own pace
- Ask only for clarification, don't ask leading questions
- Reassure them – they are not to blame, they have not done anything wrong
- Try to protect any evidence (photos of injuries, collection of clothing evidence etc)
- Record in writing as soon as you are able using their words as closely as possible and use the AT report form. Note down dates, times, as much detail as possible
- Contact the AT safeguarding officer, or Designated officer, Club welfare officer.

DO NOT:

- Show panic, shock or be upset
- Ask questions other than for clarification
- Speculate, make assumptions or judgements
- Make promises or agree to keep secrets
- Make comments about the alleged abuser

- Discuss the allegation with anyone other than the officers who can know
- Delay in reporting it
- Keep it to yourself

If you are unsure about what to do – you should discuss it with someone – there are more detailed guidelines listed in the section taken from the policy which also might help you during the process.

When the allegation is about an AT member of staff or volunteer, it is important to clarify the precise nature of the allegation –then report it to the Club Welfare Officer and /or the Designated person and the safeguarding lead. They will then take up the decision to inform the Police/Parents and Social Care. They would also make the decision about suspending the person if it is seen that others might be in need of protection.

If children and young people are abusing each other, then it should still be recorded and reported if it constitutes abuse, harm or assault see also bullying policy)

REPORTING

If a child reports to you that they have been abused in any way, then you have a responsibility to report it and not ignore it. It is not for you to decide whether it has happened or not. A flowchart can be found at the bottom of this sheet.

The CLUB WELFARE OFFICER (CWO) is the person appointed at club level and is the point of contact at your club. They will report any concerns you have to the AT safeguarding officer and will offer advice if needed.

The AT SAFEGUARDING OFFICER (ATSO) is the lead officer and will offer advice about all safeguarding issues, including the information about the Designated officers and safeguarding boards in each local area.

RECORDING

Please use the Incident referral form (found at the end of this sheet)

Be as factual as possible

Remember that this must remain confidential except to those who are allowed to see it and must be kept in a locked place at all times

Ensure that the information is correct and accurate.
